Dr. F. T. McFaden Preaches to Hollywood Memorial Association and Veterans.

LARGE CROWD ASSEMBLES

Speaker Demonstrates Fact of the Welding of Opposing Sections Into Great Nation.

The Hollywood Memorial Association and the Robert E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans last night assembled in First Presbyterian Church to lister to the annual memorial sermon, preluding memorial exercises to take place in Hollywood next Wednesday.

the memorial exercises to take place in Hollywood next Wednesday.

The memorial assistation and the gray-haired veterans occupied the middle alsie in the full strength of the camp, with their friends ranged upon either middle. From the very insignificance of their numbers the last remnants of a warlike race presented an imposing light, when one remembers the thousands who sleep in unknown graves, of whom they are the last living representatives. At eight o'clock they formed ranks, depleted from the strength of earlier days by the ravages of distance and death, and flied into the church, where they were followed by memorial associations, the Daughters of the Confederacy, and by the congression, all of whom had come as much to de homage to the defenders of the Confederacy as to listen to the powerful sermon of the speaker chosen for the occasion. On either side the church was practically filled, despite for threatening signs of the weather outside. It was an imposing and impressive sight, and Rev. F. T. Mchaden, who delivered the memorial sermon, seemed more than usurily inspired. The pathos of the everthinking ranks seemed to affect the speaker, and though he voiced a note of encouragement, inspiration and of flope for these venerable grey-haired stres, most of whom are removed but a day's march from the grave, yet he could humbered who returned nome no more, how that, even thought they had lost, a greater good had resulted in the divine providence of God, who in His own mysterious fashion has wrought from the warring sections the greatest nation and the most united of the world.

GOD'S LATEST GIFT TO WORLD OF PAIN

So Says Dr. Jere Witherspoon of Trained Nurses-High Standard of Honor.

Rev. Dr. Jere Witherspoon preached the baccalaureate sermon before the gradu-ating class and hurses of the Memorial Hospital at the Grace Street Presbyte-rian Church last night. His sermon was very impressive and was closely followed the large congregation. His subject "The Heavenly Pattern," Hebrew

"God and his relation to us, my friends," he began, "are the two great facts of all religion. The materialist, deist and athetalist, the state of th God and his relation to us, my friends.

Announcement was made at the see before one. Man must ever build upon the model revealed to him.

Calling for Every Man.

"God has for eith life in this world a calling, and sonie day, as he did to Moses, he will call us to give instructions." To call one's work in life an employment, livelihood, profession or occupation is unworthy, and merely signifies the gaining of wealth or the keeping of life in the body. "Let what we do be our calling; it links life with God, who shall reveat to us the pattern of our work."

Dr. Witherspoon went on to tell the nurses that their calling was one of mercy. It was noble, and demanded unselfish sacrifice. But there is a great joy and satisfaction in the vocation, and one peculiarly fitting to woman. The trained nurse is heaven's latest gift to the world of paln. She comes as a ministering sangel, and her work is more than a profession. The nurse must be as clean in soul as her spottess white uniform. She must be cheerful to comfort the lagging spirits of sick minds and bodies. She must be true to her calling. It is only God and the stars who see her at night as she goes about relieving the pain of the suffering.

Last Saturday night Dr. J. Shelton Hording and themselves, and put up a high standard of honor for the nurses who would succeed in their work.

The graduating exercises will be held at the Medical College of Virginia tomorrow night.

MR. BOWERS' POEMS.

Unique Publication of "Newspaper Waste Basket."

"Newspaper Waste Basket and Other Peems," Is the title of a decided originally-bound little volume of verse by Mr. Charles William Bowers, of this city. The book was made by the writer, who personally cut the paper, set the type, minted and bound the volume. Mr. Bowers is closely identified with the Richmond press, and the poems were written at home during intervals of the last year and a half. The book is bound in the form of a newspaper file and the cover is artistically stamped with the printer's ink-stained thumb marks. Clippings from Richmond newspapers are inserted on the inside of the covers, makins a very odd effect.

The volume contains twenty-seven poems in large print, covering forty-seven pages. The writer's themes are mostly taken from newspaperdom but he often diverges onto other subjects. In most instances the verse is light and tripping and very readable. At other times the

Less Than Three Weeks Time for the Busy Candidates.

BAZAAR WILL BEGIN TO-NIGHT

Patriotic Sons of America Will Have Merry Time This Week. Married Yesterday.

Manchester Burcau, Tinres-Dispatch, No. 1112 Hull Street. Less than three weeks intervene between this and the day of election when Assemblymen and Aldermen from each ward in the city are to be elected. The campaign is on in earnest, and the candidates are working among their friends for votes.

The Third Ward is the only one in which there will be no opposition. In the Second Ward six men are anxious to have the three seats in the Assembly. Those in the lower branch of the city government at this time are Messrs, C. L. Pettit. D. L. Toney and B. A. Nunnally. They are running for re-election, and the three new candidates are Messrs. M. A. Campbell. A. J. Gallagher and Mr. Welsh. The vote will be split up considerably, and just which three will be the winners cannot be forecasted at this time. In this ward, too, there has arisen a fine legal question as to whether or not Mr. Toney, now serving an unexpired term is the Assembly, will have to get a majority of the votes cast in order to be elected to the Assembly. Some hold that one vote would elect him since the Council had elected him to the unexpired term.

Council had elected him to the unexpired term.

In the Fourth Ward the fight is between Assemblyman W. D. Ferguson, who has held the sent in the body for several years, and Mr. R. V. Owen, a former member of the Assembly. Mr. Owen resigned as a member of the Council from the Third Ward when he moved into the Fourth Ward. The light between these two men will be the closes in the city. Both are confident of winning. Mr. Ferguson has made a good representative or his people, and has a number of friends upon whom he can rely for support. On the other hand, Mr. Owen is well-liked by all and is recognized as being a thorough business man.

Idlewood, Richmond's new family resort, will open on Decoration Day, 'May 30th. The postponement is due to the numerous important details which go so far to complete and beautify a resort of this kind. Mr. Wells and his associates in this enterprise have decided to postpone the opening rather than open in an incomplete State; they have also decided that their shall be no charge for admission, and have adopted the following plan: The visitor or visitors will purchase their lickets at the ticket offices, which are located in the main entrance. This ticket is good for admission to the grounds and has two other coupons attached, and is sold for ten cents. Each of the coupons are redeemable for five cents in trade at any of the concessions within the gates, thereby making the admission absolutely free.

NEWS GATHERED PRIMARY STRONG SESSION ONE AT WASHINGTON and Gives Them Advantage Over Opponents.

SITUATION IS CLEARING UP

Not Hard to Guess Who Will Be the Delegate to the Sixtieth Congress.

The longer the present primary system is in operation in Virginia the more favorably impressed are the members of Congress with its operations, for it admitted by gives them a vantage ground they did not have under the old convention mentod. It affords a sort of endless chain of official incumency, and relieves the congressman of the worry of campatigns in his own party, when otherwise he might have them thrust upon him. The early notice required by the plan, and the fact that candidates must go over large districts at heavy cost and then put up big fees to enter, have a tendency to determen from entering the primaries, and render the incumbents reasonably safe for years. The original suggesters of this system should extend to members of Congress, but amendments were put on taking in nearly all nominations.

There is one objection to the primary system which is carnestly urged by Democrats, especially in close districts, and that is that the enthusians growing out of the old-time conventions, and which usually permented the entire district and stimulated the voters, is lost under the present methods.

The primary is particularly unpopular in the Fifth and Ninth Districts, where the Democrats always have to fight for supremacy.

Leaves Open Wounds.

Leaves Open Wounds. Leaves Open Wounds.

Party men in these sections say they not only lose the benefit of convention enthusiasm, but that if there are warm fights inside the party for nominations it is difficult to heal the wounds inflicted in the debates and acrimonious discussions that take place in the primary contests.

Democrats have put up their candidates in many of the districts. Here they are so far as may have been named:

Third District—Don Lamb, Richmond, Fifth District—E. W. Saunders, Frankla.

Sixth District—Carter Glass, Lynchburg Seventh District—James Hay, Madison, Eighth District—John F. Rixey, - Cul-

Tenth District—H. D. Flood, Appoint

tox.
All of these are incumbents save Judge Saunders, and he will run for Governor Swanson's old seat.
Three candidates are running in the Second. They are Congressman Harry L. Maynard, of Portsmouth; Judge D. Tucker Brooke, of Norfolk, and Colonel George C. Cabell, Jr., of the same city. Congressman W. A. Jones, of the First, has opposition in the person of Mr. Otho Mears, of Northampton.
Only Two Left.

has opposition in the person of Mr. Otho imears, of Northampton.

Only Two Left.

The withdrwal of Colonel William Henry Mann, of Petersburg, from the race in the Fourth, leaves only Congressman Robert G. Southall, of Amelia, and Major Francis Rives Lassiter, of Petersburg. Major Lassiter has sorved in Congress, and was defeated a few years ago by Mr. Southall, by a narrow majority. They are making a warm canvass, and are seeing the voters in all the counties. Things are terribly unsettled out in the Ninth, and the Democrats do not know who they will put up. Colonel Slemp will win the Republican nomination. In all probability, though he is opposed by Senator J. C. Noel, of Lee.

Postmaster B. A. Davis, of Franklin, seems to be the choice of the Fifth District Republicans for Congress, though former Congressman John R. Brown, of Chatham, is said to have further aspirations along this line.

All the nominations of both parties will be made shortly, and then a strong battle is looked for in several of the districts.

LONG STRIDES FORWARD

The Various Reports Submitted Showed Notable Progress Past Year.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
GRDENVILLE, S. C., May 27.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which has just closed here, has been of remarkable interest and aggression. Rapid and long strides have been taken, and yet these advances have been taken, and yet these advances have been carefully directed and are along conservative lines.

Greenville, S. C., is an ideal place for the gathering of such a body as this. In view of the mountains, surrounded by diversified scenery, sustained by ten large cotton factories, with attractive homes and open-hearted people; the welcome was pleasant in every way. A city of twenty-five thousand, the more than two hundred delegates were easily entertained, and because not a great city, the people were interested in the deliberapeople were interested in the delibera-tions, and filled the church at almost every meeting. The pastor and his as-sistants were untiring, and every convenience had been provided. The First Church building was well adapted for such a gathering, and all of the sur-roundings pleased and satisfied. Personel.

Personel.

This assembly was composed of the two extremes, the fathers, men of towering strength and long experience; the brethren, young and full of zeal and enthusiasm. Many pronounced this the strongest body that had met for many years. The most interesting figure was the Rev. In Johnson of Texts, pinety-seven years. young, with a hearty clasp of the and a heartfelt blessing for all whom he came in contact. , The Northern Assembly invited him ! The Northern Assembly invited him to visit them at their expense, but the churches in far away Texas called the more eloquently, and he returned at once to them. Seventy-cight years ago this patrarch joined the church near Greenville, and while here assisted in the marriage of a great grandson.

Moderator Hall made an excellent presiding officer, caim, fair, serious, he controlled the body as but few men could have done.

The reports from the various parts of the church's territory showed remarkable progress during this year. Larke additions to the membership, large contributions to the various causes, and large plans emphasized this fact. The new executive committee on schools and large plans emphasized this fact. The new executive committee on schools and colleges, with G. H. Cornelson as secretary the establishment of depositions in connection with the work of the committee of publication, and the appointment of a committee to visit Montreat, N. C., to see if this will be a suitable place to establish an assembly's summer school, were steps forward.

Deliverances.

The assembly failed to sustain the com-school, were steps forward.

Delivernances.

The assembly failed to sustain the complaint of Dr. Laws and others against the Synod of Virginia. This synod left the control of questions affecting poligomy in mission fields in the hands of the missionaries. The assembly sustained the complaint of the First Church, Fort Worth, against the Synod of Texas on purely technical grounds, and only failed as many believe, in not stating this fact clearly in the findings of the court.

The question of closer relation with other churches failed at least for the present. This, many believed, was the evidence of victory in this matter; others argued that this would agitate the question of organic union with the Northern Presbyterian Church.

The banquet of the alumni of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, revealed the fact that nearly half of the ministers of this assembly were alumni of this time-honored institution.

J. L. Mouse, of St. Louis, was toastmaster, and Drs. Walk and McKelway, of North Carolina; Strickler, of Virginia, and McPheters, of South Carolina; Rice, of Georgia, and Rev. T. P. Squires, of Tennessee, responded. An alumni association was formed, with Dr. T. H. Reice, of Atlanta, as president, and A. D. P. Gilmour, of Richmond, secretary and vice-president, who is to preside at the synodical meetings. A plan was adopted by which an alumni endowment fund was started.

The business Friday was pushed rapid-

The business Friday was pushed rapidly through, but not heedlessly, and when the afternoon session was closing, the delegates seeing that the business was about done, hurriedly but sorrowfully left the old friends and the new friends and journeyed homeward. Last night the assembly adjourned.
